Tax Slash Bill Wins House OK

Overwhelming Vote To Cut Excise Tax May Be Followed By Senate Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to slash about 25 federal excise taxes by 912 million dollars has won overwhelming House passage and today appeared likely to get swift Senate approval too.

The House speeded the measure to the Senate yesterday by a 411-3 vote despite opposition from the Eisenhower administration.

The cuts, representing the first major downward revision of the excises or sales taxes in 20 years, would add almost a billion dollars to a deficit already forecast by the President at $2,900,000,000 for the year starting July 1.

The bill also includes something the administration wants and had figured into its budget for fiscal 1955—extensions of some steeper excises voted after the Korean War began. The Treasury would lose another $1,070,000,000 in revenue if these were to expire April 1 as scheduled.

Sen. George (D-Ga.), senior Democrat on the tax-writing Finance Committee, said in an interview he expects the Senate to pass the House bill with little or no change.

Several Republicans on the committee said they would go along with the excise reductions.

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) of the Finance Committee declined to disclose his position. But he said he would call his group together promptly, perhaps tomorrow, to start work on the bill, against the approaching expiration date.

There were indications today that the administration, which had hoped at least to scale down the excise reductions in the Senate, might instead wind up trying to head off further revenue losses.

George said in the interview that he would not try to attach to the excise bill his proposal for a drastic cut in personal income taxes by raising exemptions of each taxpayer and his dependent.

He said he would save this for the 875-page general tax revision measure which the House starts to debate next Wednesday.

But other Democratic senators who want the exemptions boosted said they may offer an amendment to accomplish this when the excise bill gets to the floor.

They said also that they may seek to cut more excises, such as those on television and radio sets.

President Eisenhower announced yesterday that he would make a nationwide television and radio broadcast next Monday to tell the country about the administration's position on taxes. No time was announced.

This was interpreted at the Capitol as an effort to head off any increase in personal income tax exemptions rather than to block the cuts in the 25 excises.

The first major test on the income tax exemptions is expected to come next Thursday in the House. There the Democrats plan to try to revise the tax revision measure to boost exemptions to $700, which would reduce revenue about $2,400,000,000 a year.

They would partially offset this by knocking out a proposed tax benefit to stockholders on dividend income. This provision would cost 240 million in its first year, 815 million when it reached full effect.

The House bill would cut to 10 per cent all excises now above that figure except those on liquor and tobacco. Affected would be 25 per cent levies on long-distance telephone calls; the 20 per cent tax on movies, sports and other admission tickets; and on furs, jewelry, luggage, cosmetics, women's pocketbooks, wallets, cameras, film and light bulbs; the 15 per cent rate on sporting goods, pens, mechanical pencils, lighters, local telephone bills and rail, bus and air passenger fares; and the 11 per cent tax on pistols, other firearms and shells.

The extensions in the bill would postpone for one year reductions scheduled for April 1 on liquor, cigarettes, automobiles, gas, trucks and buses, beer and wine.

McCarthy Gets Jump on GOP, Will Answer Adlai Tonight

To Make 'Partial' Reply Two Days Before Veep Nixon Gives Reply for Ike and Party

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), nailing down the chance to make tonight the first broadcast reply to Adlai E. Stevenson, got the jump on an administration drive to lure the spotlight away from him.

The senator, still insisting he is entitled to free television and radio time over the networks which carried Stevenson's party speech last Saturday, announced he will make a "partial" reply tonight (7 p.m., EST) on the Mutual radio network.

That will be two days before the official GOP reply by Vice President Nixon.

McCarthy will appear on the 15-minute show of commentator Fulton Lewis Jr. McCarthy said it would be a "question and answer—mostly answer" affair. He said it would touch on criticism of him by both Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952, and by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.).

NBC and CBS, which carried Stevenson's speech from Miami, Fla., have granted free time to the Republican National Committee for reply. The committee, which beat McCarthy to the draw in requesting it, chose Nixon as the GOP speaker.

President Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday he regarded the network's decision as a fair arrangement. He said he heartily concurred in selection of Nixon. High GOP sources earlier had said the President had picked Nixon.

Eisenhower also said, in commenting on Flanders' Senate criticism of McCarthy, that there is danger in "magnifying certain items of procedure and right and personal aggrandizement" to the point where we are endangering the program of action that all the leadership is agreed upon.

The White House granted permission to quote the President directly. News conference remarks normally may not be so quoted.

Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said in an interview today he interpreted the President's words as indicating concern that his legislative program might be lost sight of in wrangling over McCarthy and his controversial investigations.

Ferguson said that without disparaging McCarthy's activities, he and other leaders feel the Eisenhower program will be the "big issue" of this year's campaign for control of Congress.

"The leadership is trying to keep the big issues before the people, the issues that affect their welfare and livelihood," Ferguson said.

Similarly, Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, said last night he fears that con-

French Evacuate 2,500 Families Of the Vietnamese

HAIPHONG, Indochina (AP)—The French evacuated 2,500 Vietnamese families from villages around Dong Ha and reinforced the base today as an added protection for 105 American technicians stationed there.

In scattered fighting in the Red River delta, the French claimed 62 Communist-led Vietnamese were killed and 48 captured.

The villagers around Dong Ha were moved to prevent them from passing information to the Vietminh, whose commandos have struck surprise blows at several French army bases recently. French army engineers also strung barbed wire barricades around the base, and paratrooper patrols were increased.

S. air technicians were brought to Dong Ha last month to help service French transport planes. The base is 12 miles southeast of this seaport city.

In the Dong Trieu sector 12 miles northwest of Haiphong, Vietnamese militia beat off a Vietminh attack killing seven rebels and capturing four. The Vietnamese suffered "some losses," it was announced.

Longshoremen Again Picket US Courthouse

Waterfront Strike, Costing a Million A Day, Continues

NEW YORK (AP)—Longshoremen renewed picketing the federal courthouse today in the port of New York's million dollar a day waterfront strike.

The 7-day wildcat strike spread to Brooklyn piers, but some longshoremen defied hoisting pickets to go to work on a lower Manhattan pier.

About 250 members of the International Longshoremen's Assn., independent of the waterfront union, paraded in the triangular park before the courthouse in Manhattan in protest against a restraining order issued last week against the walkout. There was no trouble and the pickets eventually dispersed.

A number of inbound vessels were diverted to other ports to avoid expensive tie-ups.

Shipping authorities estimated that 45 ships were lying idle in New York at a loss of business of $5,000 a day each. The longshoremen's loss in wages at $2.27 an hour is estimated at more than $750,000 a day.

Further loss is being suffered through an accumulation of freight cars at New Jersey piers. They have shipments destined for tied-up ships or to be lightered to Manhattan and Brooklyn piers.

The first sign of a break in the front strike on Manhattan's waterfront came when 125 men marched onto one pier this morning.

Yells and catcalls by pickets greeted the group, but dozen foot patrolmen, two mounted and two motorcycle policemen stood by at the head of Pier 3 and there was no violence. A newly arrived United Fruit ship was moored alongside to be unloaded.

The longshoremen who went to work were said to be members of the AFL International Longshoremen's Assn. The waterfront tieup has been caused by defiant members of the rival independent Longshoremen's Assn. ignoring a federal court order and the plea of leaders to return to work.

The Pier 3 pickets carried hand printed signs which read: "No contract, no work. ILA rank and file independents."

Elsewhere on the Manhattan waterfront the labor lockup continued.

Gov. Phil M. Donnelly signed into law yesterday a bill lifting the $6 1/2 million ceiling set by the Legislature last October. Removing the ceiling took the second special session 15 days.

As a result, the state will have $8,104,000 to spend on highway construction as soon as the federal government releases the last $354,000 of its pledged $1,694,000 aid. The governor asked Agriculture Secretary Benson to approve the final allotment last night.

Since funds ran out and payment of claims stopped Feb. 15, $829,949 in worth of freight bills have piled up in the office of L. C. Carpenter, state agriculture commissioner.

Miss Testa, who in private life is Mrs. Sidney Harth, will devote her time to her family. Her husband is concertmaster of the Louisville Symphony.

The lullaby she played as an encore was dedicated to the baby.

Mr. Gregor will appear as a soloist next season, already having been scheduled to appear in 20 towns where the trio has played this season.

Ralph C. Carrell, president of the Sedalia Community Concert Association, held a short business session of all the members present for the purpose of electing four members to serve on the board for a term of three years.

The names presented by the nominating committee, Mrs. E. F. Yancy, J. W. Watts, Miss Rose Leibbrand and Mrs. Ralph Carrell, were elected by acclamation.

The carry-over board members, whose terms end in 1955, are: Mrs. Lester Painter, Mrs. Henry Salvester, Mrs. Everett White and George Routsong; those ending in 1956 are: Mrs. A. L. Miles, Miss Mabel DeWitt, Gilbert V. Jones and Miss Esther Meisenheimer.

Mr. Carrell announced the membership drive would begin May 4 and at this final concert blanks were handed to all members to send in renewals for the coming season. The board also asked the members to indicate their preferences for types of concerts they would enjoy for the 1954-55 season.

For the trio, this was one of the final concerts, since the group is breaking up at the end of this season.

he delighted the audience with the waltzes from "Die Fledermaus" by Strauss. Mr. Gregor performed prodigiously, for he played the piano part of the trio numbers, presented a solo group, and also accompanied Miss Testa and Mr. Wells in their solo numbers, providing impeccable accompaniments for these two artists.

Teresa Testa, violinist, plays with amazing precision, with warmth and feeling, her facile and decisive technique being displayed in her skillful rendering of Vivaldi's "Sonata in A Major" and the andante and finale of the "Concerto in E Minor." Particularly appealing was her "encore," "Lullaby," played without accompaniment other than her own, in original harmonic variations.

David Wells is a dramatic and fiery exponent of the cello, and he could have had no better vehicle than the "Suite Espagnole" by J. S. Bach for his astounding technique, ranging from bravura passages, where he tore the hairs from his bow in his precision phrasing, to the soft, melodious Andalusian airs in this composition. Everyone was delighted with his encore, "Flight of the Bumblebee," which he played at rapid tempo with fire and dash.

Stand Against Communism Now Almost Certain Of Full Approval

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Haiti today endorsed the United States plan to combat Communist infiltration in the Americas, virtually assuring its approval at the 10th Inter-American Conference.

Ten of the 19 Latin American nations attending the party have now gone on record in favor of the U. S. plan, which calls for joint action should Communists seize control of any Western Hemisphere nation, and for measures to check activities of Communist agents.

Conference observers predicted the plan would gain final approval with only minor amendments. Mexico and Uruguay have urged that the program include action against "any totalitarianism," but U. S. spokesmen feel this would scatter the fire of their anti-Communist attack.

Haitian Foreign Minister Pierre Laitance in the conference's political committee said, "The U. S. proposal is not only acceptable, but desirable. Our heritage of freedom in America is too precious to allow us to risk its loss to Communism."

The chief opponent of the plan, Guatemalan Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello, was scheduled to speak before the committee later today. He told newsmen he would present a proposal bearing a certain relationship to the anti-Communist resolution under debate.

U. S. officials have charges that Communists occupy many positions of power in Guatemala.

The Haitian foreign minister outlined his government's position at the opening of a new speed-up schedule in the work of the political committee. Chairman Guillermo Sevilla Sacar, Nicaraguan foreign minister, said the group will hold two meetings a day until the Communist issue is settled.

The Latin American representatives pitched into their work with new zest following a bid by the United States yesterday for talks on the pressing economic problems of their countries.

Samuel C. Waugh brought cheers from most of the delegates when he invited them to meet in Washington to discuss their specific economic problems. Most republics south of the Rio Grande have been willing to go along with the U. S. anti-Communist position in general. But they have consistently demanded effective, prompt aid to bolster their mainly one-crop economies as one of the best ways to raise living standards and thus hamper the spread of communism.

Board Rehires Principals Of Schools

Also Learns School Enrollment Up 219 Over Just Year Ago

The eight principals in the Sedalia public school system were re-employed for another year by the board of education at its meeting Wednesday night at Smith-Cotton High School.

The board also: (1) heard a report that there are 219 more pupils enrolled now than for the same month last year, with 44 more being enrolled during February alone; (2) agreed to send Forrest Drake, principal of Smith-Cotton Cotton, to the annual meeting in Chicago, March 22-25, of the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges;

(3) voted to purchase four ventilating fans, two for Jefferson School and two for Horace Mann School; and (4) accepted the bid of $147.50 by the Acme Printing Co. for furnishing election supplies for the school election in April.

Re-employed as principals, were: Forrest L. Drake, Smith-Cotton; Miss Edyth Couey, Broadway; P. A. Silvers, Horace Mann; Beverly B. Foster, Hubbard; Geo. Thompson, Jefferson; Jack Delph, Mark Twain; Miss Bessie L. Perkins, Washington; and Miss Catherine Garman, Whittier.

In submitting the enrollment report, Superintendent Heber Hunt stated that continuing increased enrollment could be expected. He asked the board members to ponder seriously the growing problem of housing the pupils.

The fans purchased will be used for the two washrooms at Horace Mann School and the girls' washroom and music and library room at Jefferson School.

Rep. Alvin Bentley Undergoes Surgery

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.), seriously wounded when Puerto Rican fanatics shot up the House March 1, underwent surgery again last night.

The emergency operation, performed about 10 p.m. was to close a wound in the abdominal wall that had come apart, the congressman's aide, Elwood Brake, said today.

He told of spending the first three days and nights after his arrival in Washington complying with an instruction from the Marine Corps commandant to complete a statement about his activities while a prisoner. Schwable said that his statement to Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., the commandant, was essentially complete but lacked many of Schwable's personal feelings and reactions and considerable detail.

At this point Schwable stated that he had not made excuses to the commandant in his Oct. 1 statement and that "I won't make excuses now."

The colonel told the court he did want to "clear up his mind" that he still thinks about when he wakes up in the middle of the night.

Col. Frank Schwable Takes Stand In His Own Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—Col. Frank H. Schwable took the witness stand today after being warned by the Marine Corps of Inquiry that he was suspected of aiding or attempting to aid the enemy, disobeying Navy regulations and conducting himself in a manner calculated to bring discredit on the naval service.

The slim Marine airman answered in a firm, clear voice that he took the stand voluntarily, after the president of the court voiced the warning.

Schwable is before the court of inquiry, now in its fourth week, in a proceeding to determine whether formal charges should be brought against him because of his confession, while a prisoner of the Communists in Korea, that the United States engaged in germ warfare. He repudiated the confession when he was freed.

Schwable's counsel, Col. Paul D. Sherman, said Schwable was anxious to testify in his own behalf because he is the "one person in a civilized country who is able to give the facts" about his 14-month confinement and the calculated Communist methods which produced the false confession.

Before Schwable took the stand, the court read into the record the efforts made by the Marine Corps and the navy to obtain five Air Force witnesses, all of whom were captured in Korea.

The record showed the Marine Corps had offered to head the air force men in secret session, but ruled that they could not testify in any fashion until after completion of a secret investigation.

Air Force is now making into the cases of some 60 officers and men who either confessed to germ warfare or might be implicated in other prohibited actions while prisoners of the enemy.

Schwable testified that upon his return to the United States late in September of last year he did not know about what he described as the "harsh attitude" that his superiors might take against him.

Cook County Jail Prisoners End a Riot

CHICAGO (AP)—Nineteen prisoners in Cook County's overcrowded jail rioted for more than seven hours yesterday before they surrendered after a barrage of tear gas shells and streams of water from high-pressure fire hoses.

The disheveled prisoners, soaking, shivering and gasping, stumbled out of a cell-block dayroom on the jail's third floor after a final hour of defiance late last night.

Three of the 19 suffered injuries in the stormy battle between inmates and guards, police and firemen. Four guards also were injured, none seriously.

The thwarting of a jail break was blamed by Sheriff John E. Babb for touching off the siege by the prisoners. All were confined to the maximum security section of the jail and were considered dangerous. The ringleaders were described by officials as a condemned murderer and a bank robber.

Babb, who was overcome by tear gas fumes in leading the assault against the prisoners, had steadfastly refused to bargain with the rioters.

"They will get a diet of tear gas—no food," he said.

Another jail official said overcrowding of the jail, which houses nearly 2,000 inmates, contributed to the riot. The jail was built to accommodate 1,395 prisoners.

More than 52 tear gas shells were fired into the dayroom, which measures 30 by 100 feet. Firemen poured water in through broken windows and through ports inside the building.

Chief Patrick Tuohy of the sheriff's police finally yelled to the rioters: "All right, any of you that want to come out, walk out backward one at a time."

Tuohy said after a long pause one of the prisoners shouted: "All right, we give up. We're coming out."

Earlier the prisoners had cursed and shouted at guards and police who had attempted to persuade them to return to their cells.

And each time the officers attempted to storm the door of the dayroom they were met with a barrage of debris and sharp jagged pieces of porcelain broken from toilet fixtures.

When gas shells were fired the prisoners would cover themselves with wet blankets.

The prelude to the riot occurred when guards discovered a 2 1/2 by 5-foot panel removed from the ceiling of one prisoner's cell. The 28 inmates in her G3 were searched and ordered to their cells. Only seven complied. Two others, at their own request, were removed to other tiers.

The remaining 19 barricaded themselves in the dayroom and refused to come out unless they were guaranteed no punishment.

Italy Premier Can Push For Defense Pact

ROME (AP)—Premier Mario Scelba's month-old government had the approval of Parliament today to push for a knockdown fight on ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty.

The Premier won a final parliamentary vote of confidence last night. In a stormy session, the 590-member Chamber of Deputies approved his program of mild social reform at home and continued ties with the West by a 17-vote margin.

Scelba pledged to rally his backers quickly for approval of the EDC pact, which would bring West German troops into a one-uniform army with Italy, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

But it probably will be several weeks before he can clear the way through the maze of complicated domestic issues confronting his wobbly four-party coalition government to get final action on EDC.

With the thin majority the 52-year-old Christian Democrat Premier commands, it will not be easy to push through his domestic program. And the fight over EDC may be the toughest hurdle of all.

Plagued by the Communists and fellow-traveling Socialists on the left and the Monarchists and neo-fascists of the right, Scelba managed to win a vote of confidence in his policies last night 300 to 283. The 334-member Senate gave him a bare five-vote margin of approval Feb. 26.

Confirmation by the deputies last night brought at least a temporary halt to the government crisis which has plagued Italy ever since the June 7 elections out of props from under the pro-Western, center-of-the-road regime of Scelba's long-time mentor, Christian Democrat leader Alcide de Gasperi.

Boy's Cat Killed, He Wanted to Die, Too; He Did, the Same Way

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—John Anthony Dillon was 5 years old and he had a cat he loved very much. She was Grey Lady, a birthday present when he was 4.

They played hide-and-seek together. The cat slept on his bed at night.

Last Thursday a car swerved into the yard and hit the cat. It didn't stop. Grey Lady crawled to Tony and died in his arms.

They buried Grey Lady, but Tony couldn't give her up. Saturday he opened up the grave and cradled her in his arms.

After they buried the cat again, Tony told his mother, "I want to go just like Grey Lady did."

He did. He was killed by a motorcycle yesterday as he and his mother, brother and sister crossed a highway on their way home.

Does that tell-tale look on your face say change of life?

A great many women suffer "change of life" after forty. They feel easily "nerves", sleep poorly, are hard to live with. Their eyes and face get that "change" look.

Let triple-action Cardui help you feel better, look better and be your normal, cheerful self again. Let Cardui today. (Say: "card-goo-ee").

Minister Chases His Own Car, Gets It Back In a Cemetery

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Dr. William A. Benfield Jr. is a minister by choice, but yesterday he became a traffic cop by necessity and after a chase recovered his stolen automobile.

He was en route to graveside services in a borrowed car when he spotted his own car—complete with dent in bumper and white leather seats.

He chased the auto into Cave Hill Cemetery, reclaimed it, and in short order was in Resthaven Memorial Park to conduct burial services.

Dr. Benfield, pastor of Highland Presbyterian Church, said a youth was driving the car, stolen from his garage March 2. The youth escaped among the tombstones.

Long-Forgotten Cache Of Whisky Is Found

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A long-forgotten cache of bootleg whisky was uncovered yesterday under the floor of a downtown landmark being razed for a parking lot.

Some of the whisky carried labels bearing a 1918 date. A stack of money also was found but most of it was shredded badly, apparently by rats. Several $5 and $10 bills were still intact, however.

Fever of 15 Pupils Isn't Fever at All

SEATTLE (AP)—Fifteen students returning to a local grade school after short absences underwent a routine check of their temperatures. For all fifteen, the thermometer registered 102-3.4 degrees above normal.

They were sent back home. Then one mother, who could find no fever in her youngster at home, decided to investigate. Inquiry disclosed that an inexperienced aide had not shaken the thermometer between each temperature check, believing that the cool antiseptic solution in which it was dipped was enough to send the mercury down.

Newer Polio Vaccine May Be the Best

DETROIT—Dr. Albert B. Sabin, Cincinnati virus expert, today reported big steps toward a new kind of polio vaccine which might give lifelong protection.

He announced finding "tame" living polio viruses which have been used successfully in vaccine tests on monkeys.

Although still alive, these viruses are harmless "cousins" of regular polio virus, and don't cause sickness. Because they are alive, they are presumably more powerful in creating protective antibodies than killed viruses, such as used in the Salk vaccine.

The antibodies created by living virus could last for years even perhaps a lifetime.

Much more work needs to be done on this type of vaccine, Dr. Sabin, of the University of Cincinnati Medical College, told the Michigan Foundation for Medical and Health Education.

He expressed opinion there are still some unanswered technical questions about the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh.

A main question is how effective killed viruses are in creating antibodies, and how long such antibodies last, he said.

Another is how many thousands or millions of killed viruses are needed for one vaccination, if the number is too high, it may be impossible to supply enough virus to vaccinate millions of children and young adults, Dr. Sabin said.

The virus for vaccines now is grown only in monkey kidney tissue, he explained, and there is a limit to its availability.

Dr. Salk is expected to report new findings on just such questions at a meeting tonight in New Orleans.

Dr. Sabin's prepared paper did not imply that the Salk vaccine is not safe.

He said the final answer whether any vaccine actually gives protection can come only from carefully controlled experiments on hundreds of thousands of children.

Such tests of the Salk vaccine are scheduled soon with support of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The foundation supports the studies of both Salk and Sabin.

The "tame" viruses appeared when huge numbers of dangerous virus were being grown on kidney tissue.

By special methods, Dr. Sabin and co-workers found that some had changed, mutated—become genetically different—so they lost their polio punch, and these strains were separated and continued.

The studies must continue to learn whether there is any chance these viruses could change back again to become dangerous. Also, a search is being made to learn if nature already has created, in humans, any better strains of tame virus.

Six Boats Go After Catch of 600 Whales

COAL HARBOR, B. C.—The 20th-century version of "The Boat" sounded across the Pacific Ocean's stormy waters today as six sturdy boats started a hunt for 600 whales.

The ships left here yesterday and will range from 100 to 200 miles out of this shore station deep in Quatsino Sound on the northwest coast of Vancouver Island.

They seek humpback finback, blue and sperm whales in the only whaling expedition known to operate this far north in the Pacific.

They will conclude their search six months from now. It is hoped the catch will be big enough and expenses small enough to show a profit—a result obtained only once before in the six years of operation by the B. C. Packers, Ltd.

Five vessels, with 25-man crews, harpooned 330 whales last year in a season cut short two weeks by a Pacific storm.

C. of C. Planning Later Meeting On Recreation

The recreational program, under the direction of Mrs. Anne Livingston, leadership specialist of the National Recreation Association, sponsored recently by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, was well attended at all meetings.

There is a great interest in the recreational programs presented by Mrs. Livingston and recreation leadership material used by her has been compiled in booklet form, which she values at $3, but which may be purchased from the County Extension Office, 118½ West Third, or at the office of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce for 50 cents a copy. The booklet contains pre-party and get-acquainted games, methods of getting partners, children's games, quiet, rhythmic and mental games; action, picnic and playground games; musical mixers, sings, harmony and action square dances and drama for fun.

The Chamber of Commerce plans to have Arthur Todd, field representative of the National Recreation Association, come to Sedalia to meet with a group of citizens interested in starting a well rounded recreational program in Sedalia.

Anonymous Call Sends Capital Cops On Run

WASHINGTON — An anonymous telephoned warning — and memories of the shooting spree staged by Puerto Rican fanatics 10 days ago in the House of Representatives — sent police reinforcements on the double to the Capitol yesterday.
Nothing happened. William Bonnell, House sergeant-at-arms, said an untraceable call the FBI received, predicting "trouble," probably was the work of a crackpot — "but we can't take any chances."

Peter Edson's Column—
Lewis Hopes to Head
Coalition of the Unions

WASHINGTON—John L. Lewis, just turned 74, has apparently at long last come to the conclusion that he himself cannot hope to head a unified American labor movement. Mr. Lewis is said to believe, however, that he can head up a balance-of-power coalition in the now widely decentralized and rivalry-torn union organizations.

A third force of this kind—between the eight-million member American Federation of Labor and the perhaps four-million member Congress of Industrial Organizations—is considered important in achieving organic unity in the U. S. labor movement. Mr. Lewis is using his influence wherever he can to bring it about.

These are now believed to be the real factors behind several moves in union labor circles which have led to some highly speculative rumors of new alliances in the past year.

They account for the United Mine Workers' loan to the Independent International Longshoremen's Assn. now headed by Capt. William V. Bradley of New York. They account for last year's meeting between John L. Lewis and David J. McDonald, president of the C. I. O. Steelworkers' union. They account for the flirtation that has gone on between a number of weaker unions and the strong U.M.W.

They also explain in part the statement made by Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters' union, at the recent Miami Beach meeting of the A.F.L. executive committee. Mr. Beck urged that Mr. Lewis and the U.M.W. be invited to come back into the A.F.O. L. fold.

A Joint Statement
This statement of Mr. Beck's was obviously made with the foreknowledge and approval of Mr. Lewis. These two men have had a number of meetings in Washington. Mr. Beck would obviously not have stuck his neck out in this manner if he had not known in advance that Mr. Lewis would not scorn the invitation.

Mr. Lewis wants back in, but as usual on his own terms. The present A.F.O. L. hierarchy are by no means inclined to give. Mr. Lewis is expected to ask that an invitation be issued to the C. I. O., the Railway Brotherhoods and other independent groups to join the A. F. of L. at the same time the Mine Workers would go back. Lewis is on record as having said all these groups should be joined.

If his past convictions still hold, Lewis could be expected to insist that the head of a unified U.S. labor organization should be neither A.F. of L. President George Meany or C.I.O. President Walter Reuther. In taking himself out of the race for the top job, Mr. Lewis would take these two out with him and start with a fresh team.

This probably accounts, in part, for Beck's refusal to sign the A.F. of L.-C.I.O. no-raiding agreement at Miami Beach. Mr. Meany, Mr. Reuther and their lieutenants had worked this out as a first step leading to unification. The Lewis-Beck idea is to reverse this process.

Now that Beck has refused to sign the no-raiding agreement, a number of other unions which had been waiting to see how the big boys would act may refuse to go along. So this approach to organic unity may have to be abandoned by the Meany-Reuther negotiators.

Mr. Lewis' own efforts to build up his third force through support of the International Longshoremen's Assn. also received a setback. Representatives of 32 I. L. A. locals outside of New York, meeting in Washington, voted 29 to three against affiliation with the A. F. of L. But they went back to their Atlantic, Gulf and Great Lakes ports without taking action on proposals that they join the United Mine Workers District 50. This in spite of the financial backing Lewis has given them.

In spite of all this jockeying for position and power in the badly disorganized labor movement, the pressure for organic unity is greater than it has ever been.

Many top union officials are convinced that a business recession with mounting unemployment, is here. They believe there are a number of provisions in the Taft-Hartley Act—so far unused—which could be applied by employers to put a tight squeeze on unions. There is a strong feeling that some employers may soon be asking for new contracts with reduced wage scales.

For all these reasons, the old-time trade union leaders like Lewis are said to feel that the time is ripe for one strong organization to speak for the entire American labor movement in what they insist is a hostile Republican atmosphere.

The Good Earth

Debate over the nation's future soil fertility is complex, and there is no intent here to embrace the whole subject.

We would just like to note that a Connecticut soil scientist added a bright ray of hope recently for those who have felt that we were doomed to steadily diminishing returns from thinning, tired, eroded soil.

The scientist showed that Connecticut and some other New England states have in a long, gradual process built originally weak soils to a point where they are now among the most productive in the country. Farmers achieve this by putting into the soil more nutrient material than they take out through the growth of crops.

In consequence, Connecticut's income per acre of land in farms tops all the states, and is nearly four times that of Iowa, celebrated heart of the farm belt.

Pity The Veeps

As a publicity gag and promotion stunt for Georgie Jessel, a new "Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Vice-Presidents" has been launched. Membership certificates have been sent out by the hundreds.

The aim, it says, is to "Preserve, Protect and Pamper those who have been Pressed, Parlayed or Provoked into these Parious Positions."

Charter Membership No. 1 was sent to U.S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Largest national forest in the United States is the Gila, a few miles from Deming, N. M.

Open Break Versus Compromise

The art of compromise is the art of politics. Men who urge compromise most often are men of moderation, seeking to avoid the kind of civil combat that follows when extremists move to their last-ditch positions.

The motivations which generally lead men to propose compromise are thus admirable. They constitute perhaps the most forceful element in the making of rational government. The compromisers are counsellors of sanity, and of emotional calm.

Leaders who do not have this talent in some degree seldom linger long in the seats of power. Their rigid, inflexible adherence to principle renders them largely incapable of productive action in a world of wide-ranging viewpoints. General De Gaulle is a prime example. He was useful only in the extremes of war, when many differences were submerged in the great common cause.

Yet the vital worth of compromise as a solvent of violent passions should not blind us to its limitations. Not every principle and every issue can be the proper subject of compromise.

For example, in the truce negotiations in Korea, there was no sensible way to compromise our insistence that unrepatriated prisoners be given their freedom if they did not want to go home. Stopping to the absurd, we could have suggested, in the manner of a divorce court judge, that the prisoners spend six months in free territory and six under Communist rule. The patent foolishness of this notion highlights the strict limits of compromise in the issue.

Similarly, in domestic politics and government, the country's interest is not always served by merging opposite viewpoints in some sort of half-and-half arrangement.

For instance, let us suppose a movement developed in Congress for certain controls on book publishing, on the theory that this would help check the spread of Communist propaganda. Let us assume, too, that the movement gains considerable support.

The protection of freedom of speech in the Constitution is flat and clear. Speech is either free or it is not. To be sure, the courts and the laws will not let one man libel or slander another and will not let men incite others to riot or advocate the overthrow of this government. But all these abuses of free speech must be proved against writing or speaking freely.

Consequently, there could be no compromise with a proposed law which would provide such a general ban. Under our accepted Constitutional fundamentals, it would be a clear case of right and wrong. Neither the nation nor the American individual would be helped by a compromise which merely served to keep political extremists from each other's throats.

There are those among us who think compromise fits all occasions, who imagine that the worst that can befall us is an open break between large contending factions. But our history suggests that sometimes an open break and an unyielding fight is not only the best but the only way to preserve our free system.

House of Surprises

After the St. Lawrence Seaway project skimmed through the Senate with a 51-33 victory, it was widely forecast that the plan would encounter extreme difficulty in the House. But the House, too, is providing surprises.

The House Public Works Committee, generally thought to be well sprinkled with seaway opponents, voted to approve the project, 23 to 6. The size of this vote is accepted by congressional leaders as presaging a triumph for the seaway on the floor a few weeks hence.

The issue has been hanging fire for decades. Action finally was forced by Canada's assumption of the initiative, the Canadians having decided to get on with the seaway with or without American cooperation. When President Eisenhower put the issue on his "must" list for 1954, that evidently provided the necessary final push.

Senate Debates

James Reston of the New York Times took note the other day of one of the sadder phenomena of our time—the decline of really lively debate in Congress.

There is some good argument, he adds. By this we assume he means there are still lawmakers who can present issues clearly, so that the listener understands the two or more opposing points of view.

Anyone who frequents the House and Senate chambers these days would have to agree. Very often only a handful of senators are present when that august body has under consideration the most momentous issues.

We don't have "great debates" any more, just a lot of talk—some of it reasonable, but all too much of it hard-gleam-in-the-eye shouting and ranting.

Manners Make Friends

You neglected sending that wedding present for so long you wonder now if it would be better just to forget the whole thing. No, it wouldn't. Send the gift. Write a note telling the bride how sorry you are to have been so late and resolve that next time you'll be more prompt.

"Better late than never—but better never late."

A friend does something nice for you during the Christmas season and you wish you had been as thoughtful. Never mind. If you'll give the matter some thought during the coming months you'll find some way to show your appreciation. Christmas isn't the only time when you can show a friend how much you value his friendship.

The office isn't the place to either make or take your social telephone calls. If some of your friends don't realize this, you can give them a gentle hint by saying when they call you at the office for a chat: "Could I call you tonight at home?" Remember, employers don't agree that talk is cheap.

Tree frogs hibernate when cold weather begins and sleep continuously until the return of higher temperatures.

—But Who's Going to Bell Him?

The World Today—
Ike Gives Promise On War

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 28-word statement by President Eisenhower on how this country would enter another war—only after a declaration by Congress—may be remembered long after the present hubbub over Sen. McCarthy is forgotten.

The President, at yesterday's news conference in which he stiff-armed the Wisconsin Republican without mentioning his name, was asked the following question: "Mr. President, Sen. Stennis (D. Miss.) said... we were in danger of becoming involved in World War III in Indochina because of the Air Force technicians there. What will we do if one of those men is captured or killed?"

Stennis wasn't the only one who had raised that question. Others had wondered after it was learned a couple of hundred American Air Force technicians were being sent into Indochina to help service, but not fly, American planes given the French to fight the Communist-Vietnam.

The President's answer was: "There is going to be no involvement of America in war unless it is a result of the constitutional process that is placed upon Congress to declare it." Then he added: "Now, let us have that clear."

His answer may have been clear in Eisenhower's mind. But it raised more questions than it answered, because it has to be considered in relation to what has been called the military "new look" and what Secretary of State Dulles said Jan. 12.

Speaking on that date in New York on how the Eisenhower administration had worked out what he described as a new policy in dealing with Communist aggression anywhere, Dulles said:

"The President and his advisers, as represented by the National Security Council, had to take some basic policy decisions. This has been done. The basic decision was to depend primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate, instantly, by means and at places of our own choosing."

He does that like with Eisenhower's statement, this country won't get into war unless Congress declares it? Dulles spoke about capacity to "retaliate instantly." Formal declaration of war by Congress would mean debate and delay.

Dulles' statement, the President's yesterday, others by various officials add up to less than a clearcut, comprehensive statement of intentions—perhaps necessarily. Still, many questions are left unanswered.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

F. C. Barnhill, president of the Wood & Huston Bank, Marshall, spoke at the luncheon of the Rotary Club on a milk condensery and its advantages.

T. P. Davis, for two months the manager of the Sedalia, Liberty and Strand Theatre, purchased the Midland Circuit, purchased the three picture show houses of the Midland Company in Moberly. Glenn Carroll, assistant manager at the Sedalia Theatre, was placed in charge of the theatres here until a successor to Mr. Davis was chosen.

Edward Connor and Aaron Griffith, young Sedalia members of the Drury College varsity band at Springfield, were to sail May 31 for a tour of the Mediterranean waters on one of the Cunard liners.

Lewis Offield, son of Mrs. J. M. Offield, former Sedalia, later of New York, had a leading part in the talking picture "The Dummy," that was showing at the Liberty Theatre. His stage name was "Jack Oakie."

Forty Years Ago
Charles McEniry was in Jefferson City attending a sale of Houchen and Anderson of fine saddle and light harness horses.

Miss Ethel Murray, stenographer in the offices of the Missouri State Fair, Fourth and Lamine, was at Holden at the bedside of her father who was critically ill.

W. V. Perry, formerly night ticket agent for the MKT here, was here for a brief visit. He was a ticket clerk for that road at Muskogee, Okla., after leaving Sedalia.

Under auspices of the PEO, an illustrated lecture was given by the Rev. A. W. Kokendoffer on "Yellowstone Park." The proceeds were to be utilized in charity work of the society.

KILL WITH CARE

THE STORY: Two "monsters" parading in front of a movie house where a horror bill was showing, apparently stabbed Police Chief Otto Drover. There at a wedding, knew nothing of the "monsters" which everyone had thought was a publicity stunt for a horror film. Private Detective Jim Dunn, who also had been at the wedding and reception, has taken Nancy, daughter of the murdered chief of police, to headquarters to hear details of the tragedy.

III

SERGEANT EARLY finished. "The killers got away clean. All they had to do was take off their wigs, pull out the phony teeth, and we don't have an idea what they looked like. Some witnesses thought they were young. Some didn't."

Jim Dunn moved a little in his chair. "Let's try the why."

Mayor Stone asked. "Explain what you mean, young man?"

"The motive. Why Drover? And why do it in this screwball way?"

"Any police officer makes enemies," Early said. "That's bound to happen. As to why it was done this way, I wouldn't know. Maybe because it was smart."

"Was the chief working on anything special?" Jim wanted to know. "Anything that might hook up with this?"

"Not that I know of," Early said. "I do know he got a phone call shortly before noon this morning. Just before he was due at the wedding. It seemed to upset him a little."

"What was it about?"

"I don't know that. I was in his office when he started talking. I didn't hear any names, and he waved me out right away."

"No sort of a record of incoming calls?"

"Not to the chief," Early said. "What a minute, though. Chief Drover—yes, here's his desk pad. He was a pretty active doer while he talked over the phone."

For the first time, Nancy Drover made a sound, a strange gasp suspiciously like a sob.

Early looked stricken. Mayor Stone said, "Miss Drover, this is terrible for you. Wouldn't you rather go somewhere else?"

"No, please. No. I couldn't. I don't believe any of this is really happening. I'm sorry, please go on."

Early hesitated, then moved as if to the desk pad. The top sheet was neatly bordered with lacy curlicues. The top center was nearly filled with roughly sketched piled cordwood with an A and a T above it. This apparently had been unsatisfactory, because it had been roughly scratched out. Below, and in apparent substitution, was a grove of trees with a small stick figure standing near-by. Under this drawing were the letters, G/G, G, G.

"Mean anything to you, Early?" Jim asked.

"I know the pad was empty, at least the first sheet was clean when I left. The chief had written some traffic instructions for me, tore the sheet off and gave it to me as I was leaving."

"We have a pile of wood," Jim went on. "And a grove of trees, which also could be called a wood. The name Wood means anything special to you?"

"Don't know anyone by that name, right off," Early said after thought. "Say, there is old Atwood, the banker. A friend of the chiefs."

The mayor took the bundle, put it on the desk, and let the long, light blue smock unroll. A cord maw was there, a peculiar peaked hat, a pair of yellow gloves, and a section of grooved pink plaster or plastic holding two fanlike teeth. There was a small stain, possibly blood, on the right-hand yellow glove. There was a smaller stain on the corresponding cuff of the smock, and a much larger stain halfway up the lower arm. This last stain appeared to be the heaviest on the inside of the sleeve.

Stone reached for the teeth, and Jim caught his arm. "If you haven't facilities here, send it to the police lab in Denver. Pretty careless way to dispose of those things."

"Why?" Stone demanded. "That's a common sort of mop. That smock thing, I've seen many like it in garages and filling stations. The teeth, I suppose they might be traced, but it looks like a homemade job to me."

"You a dentist?"

"Me? No. Electrical work and appliances is my line. I was just stating an opinion."

Jim nodded. "These things'll come in handy for a positive identification if we pick up a suspect. If for no other reason."

DR. FRANK PARDON hurried in. The policeman who had brought the package hid Nancy from his sight. "Have a preliminary report for you. A single stab wound, penetrated the heart. Someone was either mighty lucky, or very skilful. I'd say he knew what he was doing."

"The chief Drover was dead on his feet, a few seconds after the stabbing. I doubt if he felt anything more than a little push. He never knew what hit him; never knew when he fell to—"

There was an agonized gasp, and the sound of a falling body. Jim Dunn was beside Nancy Drover, kneeling on the worn linoleum of the floor.

Dr. Pardon swore. "I didn't see her! I didn't know she was here! What stupid fools let her be here at a time like this?"

He brushed Jim aside, made a quick examination. He called over his shoulder, "Get an ambulance. She's in shock. And of all the damned fools, you, Jim Dunn, was still expiring his opinion when the ambulance arrived."

By News Staff

The large bold hoop earrings worn by women who runs in the some crowd always fascinated one of the men, had when he and his wife went to Kansas City recently he couldn't resist buying a pair of small canaries, made of cotton and feathers, which were perfect miniature copies of little song birds.

When he got back to Sedalia he could hardly wait to get hold of those earrings and wear the little birds on.

The woman with the earrings got a big laugh out of them and when the man dared her to wear them to the party they had been invited to that night, she took him up on it.

She walked in the room, which was full of people, just as unconcerned as if she had an inconspicuous pair of pearl earrings, the little yellow canaries swinging on the gold hoops just like they were in little bird cages.

"Cheep, cheep, cheep," began her companions, and everybody had fun, but nobody had more fun than the woman with the earrings. After all, it is the fashion these days to have not only screws on earrings, but screwy ones, and those were just about as "screwy" as anybody ever had.

And so—she has the outstanding earrings of the season, the symbol of spring—bird earrings—now if the man would only think up a way to make the birds sing she believes she would have a fortune at her fingertips, or rather on her ear lobes.—H. L.

Colorado Will Go For Big 7 In NCAA Play

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Colorado, a Cinderella team that lost its first seven games, will represent the Big Seven in the NCAA regional basketball playoff at Stillwater, Okla., this weekend—thanks to a lucky draw.

Colorado's name was drawn from a hat yesterday, giving it the honor over the Kansas Jayhawks. The draw was necessary because Missouri's surprising 76-67 victory over Kansas Tuesday night threw the conference championship into a tie between the Buffaloes and the Jayhawks. Each had a 10-2 record in conference play.

"Like I said, I'm glad they won," said Coach Forrest (Phog) Allen of Kansas after the drawing. Allen, whose teams have been to the NCAA tournament many times, had entered the office of Reeves Peters, Big Seven executive secretary, with the statement, "I hope Colorado wins."

"I'll do them good to get into the play," Allen added later. "Now, it wouldn't be anything new to us. Besides, we're in bad shape. One of our best players, Harold Peterson, was injured in last night's loss to Missouri."

"I wish Colorado luck in the playoffs, but the odds are with Oklahoma A&M to win the bracket at Stillwater. They're playing on their home court, and that's a tremendous advantage."

Colorado meets Bradley in the first round of its playoff tomorrow night, and Oklahoma A&M takes on Rice. The winners meet Saturday night after a consolation game between the losers.

William C. Lam, business manager for the Colorado athletic department, rushed to a telephone and called Boulder, Colo., as soon as the drawing was over.

Waiting on the other end of the line were the Buffalo basketball team and its coach, H. B. (Bebe) Lee.

"They all gave a big cheer when they heard the news," Lam said. "It's just about time they had some luck after that bad start of losing seven games. Coach Lee was due. His home burned down Saturday while his team was beating Kansas State. We've had a long dry spell in basketball at Colorado, and Coach Lee has done a fine job of building his team."

Colorado had an over-all season record of 11-9 compared to Kansas' 16-5.

Hubbard Teams Active In Week

The Hubbard Junior High basketball team defeated the Marshall Junior High in a game Wednesday night at the Hubbard gym by a score of 38 to 39. Randall Cason was high point man for Hubbard with 16 points. E. Johnson was high for Marshall with 18.

Marshall All Stars ran from the Sedalia Bad Boys with a score of 89 to 39.

Tonight the Sedalia Bad Boys will play the Jet Bombers of the Air Base at 7:30 o'clock.

Friday the Hubbard Junior team will be honored in the auditorium at 9 a. m. by the faculty and student body for efforts in winning second place in the MNIAA tournament. A beautiful trophy won at this meet will be presented to the school.

The Hubbard varsity team will also be given a big send-off by the student body before they enter the state MNIAA tournament at Jefferson City on Friday night. They play the Lincoln University Laboratory High School at 6:30 p. m. The Hubbard High School chorus will sing several numbers at this program.

Plenty Action In Wrestling Battle Royal

The big deal in wrestling will be seen in the ring at the National Guard Armory starting at 8:30 tonight when six men open with a battle royal. The matches sponsored by Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion will give a full night of sport entertainment, Joe Adelman the promoter announced.

It's a novel deal in the Sedalia ring in several years. Additional events all depend on the losing and winning of the six men in the ring. In other words there will be four wrestling events on the card, the battle royal, the preliminary one fall, the semi-final and the final event.

Entering the ring for the royal will be Gene Reardon, Bruce Ozenberger, Joe Adelman, Pierre Berbera, Frank Thompson and Jim Lake. With the exception of Reardon and Adelman, the others are somewhat new comers to the Sedalia ring. Lake has appeared here several seasons back, the others are plenty new to the ring.

From territories where they have been wrestling and should provide something new in wrestling entertainment.
The first two to lose are to meet in the preliminary event; the next two eliminate each other in the semi-final event and the two remain in the final event.

George Leopold, well known in the Sedalia area as a top heavy-weight wrestler, was signed by the Legion. Leopold is supposed to "keep order" when the six men meet. It will be difficult, but for some reason other promoters dropped it. Adelman recalled when he was here during those periods it was popular and he is endeavoring to establish the battle royal as leader from time to time.

Springfield Still Winning In the NIAA

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The tournament-wide Springfield (Mo.) State Bears jumped into the favorite's spot today in the National Intercollegiate basketball meet, replacing Bevo Francis and his Rio Grande College club.

Southeastern Louisiana College knocked Rio Grande out of the tournament 78-65 last night in second-round play. The Louisiana team wasn't even listed among the eight seeded squads.

Bevo, who entered the meet with a 50.4 per game average, was held to 27 points. In a first round game Monday he was limited to 28.

Quarterfinal games were scheduled tonight, with Springfield State playing East Texas State in the feature. East Texas State was a semi-finalist last year.

Springfield knows tournament play. It has won the past two National Intercollegiate and now has a record of 12 successive victories in the tournament.

It takes a club that can pace itself to win the NAIA. The schedule is rugged—the titlist has to play five games in six days.

Although Bevo Francis departed today as the 16 teams remaining a major contribution at the gate. On the opening night, a capacity crowd of 10,500 showed up in Municipal Auditorium. The next night, NIT took place at the University of Illinois.

Top-seeded Duquesne favored over fourth-seeded Niagara. Second-seeded Western Kentucky expected to topple third-seeded Holy Cross. The final, and a consolation final for tonight's losers, is scheduled Saturday.

Some of the NCAA entries headed for the four regional tournaments — Philadelphia, Iowa City, Stillwater, Okla., and Corvallis, Ore.—and those already on hand got in their final practice ticks.

Here's how they'll line up for the NCAA title tomorrow night:
At Philadelphia—Navy vs. Cornell and La Salle vs. North Carolina State.

At Iowa City—Penn State vs. Louisiana State and Notre Dame vs. Indiana.
At Stillwater—Bradley vs. Colorado and Rice vs. Oklahoma A&M.

At Corvallis—Southern California vs. Idaho State and Santa Clara vs. Colorado A&M.

The week-long NAIA Tournament for smaller schools enters the quarter-final round with Springfield (Mo.) State, the defending champion, still in the running.

NIT is running true to form for the first time in years. That, plus the fact Duquesne already has beaten Niagara twice, albeit with difficulty both times, makes the Dukes favored in their game. Western Kentucky figures to have too much height and speed for the slick Crusaders of Holy Cross.

Bevo Francis, Rio Grande's sensational scorer, made only 27 points as his team was upset by Southeastern Louisiana College 78-65 in a second round game last night.

The NCAA field finally was completed yesterday with the selection of Colorado to represent the Big Seven Conference. The Buffaloes gained a tie with Kansas in the conference race when the Jayhawkers were upset by Missouri last night.

The Hoosiers, ranked second nationally go against Notre Dame's 5th-ranked team, which has rolled to 17 consecutive victories. Indiana beat the Irish 66-65 back in December and also eliminated Notre Dame in last year's NCAA Tournament.

Bobby Jones Beats Gil Turner In Ring

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Jones boys must have declared this open season on ranking middleweights. Monday night, Ralph (Tiger) Jones kayoed the fifth ranking 160 pounder, Bobby Dykes. And last night, Bobby Jones, like his namesake, unranked and a decided underdog, waffled the fourth ranking middleweight, Gil Turner of Philadelphia.

To paraphrase a popular ditty, the whole fight mob's talking about the Jones boys.

Bobby, of Oakland, Calif., did such a workmanlike job on the 23-year-old Turner, that the Philadelphia Negro and his manager have decided to forsake the middleweight division and go back to the welterweight class.

Raschi Hurls Cards to Win Over ChiSox

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Chalk one up for Vic Raschi today—and the St. Louis Cardinals too.

"I think I can help them a lot," Raschi repeatedly has said since the Redbirds purchased him from the New York Yankees.

Yesterday, he showed he wasn't kidding. Making his debut for the National League, the 35-year-old right-hander limited the Chicago White Sox to two hits in the four innings he worked as the Cardinals eeked out a 7-5 victory.

Gag Chief's Fans Missing His Mustache

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy de Wolfe, this town's new gag chief, is faced with a problem in recognition bordering on the hair line.

Billy's mustache is missing. It was just a trifling brush about one-half by two inches, but it was as important to Billy as a trademark as a bathing suit is to Esther Williams.

For a dozen years or so Billy, a man with an antic gleam in his eye, has been wandering in and out of movies as a funny man. He has traveled the show road thru night clubs, variety and even TV.

It was, however, only a few weeks ago that he first trod the boards of New York's legitimate theater, appearing as John Murray Anderson's "Almanac" at the Imperial and emerging with rave notices as the funniest man around these parts in quite a spell.

But it was a victory won without the presence of his mustache. Now his problem is to obtain a recognition which is more than just lip service.

"There's more talk in New York right now about that mustache than about the Chinese Communists," is De Wolfe's restrained summation. "Just now, even a taxi driver looked at me and said 'Put it on!'"

"Out front at matinees I can hear little old ladies whispering to each other. Minutes after my first entrance they decide it's me and start applauding."

"Or someone comes up to me on the street, or at a party. They all start the same: 'You know, I didn't recognize you without,' the De Wolfe eyes close."

The mustache has been in and out of Billy's professional life like a yo-yo.

He got it in his first movie, "Dixie," when he played a river gambler, and it seemed appropriate. During wartime service in the Navy, it was shaved off, then put back for a morale (his, presumably) tour.

Aside from discouragement over loss of his mustache, ("Maybe I ought to hang a sign around my neck. 'Yes, I'm really Billy de Wolfe,'" the versatile comic is in top spirits over present chore.) "I'm feeling healthier, younger, and getting a lot of new material," he says. "I was getting fat and lazy in Hollywood. Everybody out there's the same. They want a loaf of bread, they get in their Cadillac and drive four blocks. I weighed nearly 200."

Not for a minute, however, is he thinking of saying goodbye to the movies. He's been gathering impressions of Gotham people and manners which will show up in new De Wolfe convulsions when he returns West.

Benson Will Go All the Way For Farm Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson has served added notice he intends going all the way in support of the Eisenhower administration's new farm program.

In his most forthright statement on the politically explosive farm issue, Benson told House critics yesterday he would "probably" advise the President to veto any bill passed by Congress which would continue the present system of rigid high price supports.

Then, commenting on the possibility the issue may be forced to an early test in the Senate, he told newsmen, "It might be just as well to have a showdown now."

The secretary returned for another session today with the House Agriculture Committee, which he told yesterday:

"There are better ways to spend public money than for the continued accumulation of unneeded reserves (surpluses), without equivalent benefits to farmers or consumers."

Benson's "showdown" comment Senate to tack mandatory high price supports to a wool subsidy bill now awaiting action there, was made in response to reports that efforts will be made in the

Army Explaining Tank Contract Going to GM

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army officials were called back today to tell the Senate Armed Services Committee more about award of an exclusive contract for Army M48 tanks to General Motors.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) has been criticizing the award for months, contending the result was to shut down several other tank plants after they had been granted multimillion-dollar defense tax benefits.

The committee held a hearing on the contract award Jan. 29. A week ago, the Army said faulty assemblies had been discovered in the transmissions of a few General Motors-produced tanks and that accordingly the transmissions of about 6,450 of them had been ordered taken apart for checking and correction of any faults found.

An army spokesman said the cost might run to $60,000 and that it had not been determined whether the Army or the company would pay.

At the January hearing, Secretary of the Army John Slezak defended award of the exclusive contract to General Motors Fisher Body Division, saying it was 18 million dollars below the next bid, by Chrysler Corp.

Mack Sennett Stars Greet Former 'King'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mack Sennett, once Hollywood's king of comedy, took a sentimental journey into the past last night as his stars of yesteryear gathered for a reunion at his old studio.

The creator of the Keystone Kops and the Mack Sennett bathing beauties was the subject of the TV show "This Is Your Life."

Emcee Ralph Edwards assembled many of the old Sennett troupe for dinner and drinks at the site of the old Keystone studio in the Edendale district of Los Angeles.

The place is now used by a trucking firm, and the company erected an obelisk in honor of the studio for the occasion.

The 69-year-old Canadian-born producer was taken completely by surprise. He was induced to attend the program by Cameron Shipp, with whom he is writing his memoirs. He was supposed to be appearing on a show called "So You Want to Write a Book."

"How am I going to live up to the 'King of Comedy,'" Sennett remarked afterward, referring to his billing on the show. "I wish I had gotten more laughs."

There were many laughs and much sentiment at the after-show party. Edwards had assembled many figures from Sennett's past, among them his boyhood sweetheart from Northampton, Mass., Mrs. Rose Clark, whom he hadn't seen in many decades. Also, Fritz Schaff, star of "Mademoiselle Modiste," in which Sennett played a chorus boy 30 years ago.

The dwindling ranks of the Keystone Kops included Hank Mann, Chester and Heinie Conklin and Andy Clyde.

Other Sennett stars present included Sally Eilers, Phyllis Haver, Louise Fazenda, Jack Muhlall, Franklin Pangborn, Minta Durfee, Arbuckle and Alberta Vaughn.

Harold Lloyd was there and recalled working three or four months as a juvenile for Sennett at $50 a week before moving on to greater fame. Sennett, who also started such stars as Charlie Chaplin, Bing Crosby, W. C. Fields, Carole Lombard and Gloria Swanson, has been in semiretirement since 1935. He leads an active life, remaining in touch with the show world and playing golf daily.

W. L. McLean Jr., Famed Newsmen, Stricken, Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—William L. McLean Jr., 58, a big city newspaper executive who championed the rights of the small town paper, died last night of a cerebral hemorrhage.

He was vice president and treasurer of the Philadelphia Bulletin, and a brother of Robert McLean, president of the Bulletin Co. and president of The Associated Press.

Stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage at his home, McLean was taken to Lankenau Hospital, where he died a short while later. His wife and two children were at his bedside.

McLean was active in the Bulletin's operations since his discharge from the Army as a first lieutenant after World War I. His primary interests were in the company's finances and in the handling of newsprint.

As a past president of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Assn., McLean devoted much attention to the problems of smaller newspapers throughout the state.

He felt that the big dailies should keep in mind the smaller newspaper's responsibility to its community and help it meet that responsibility.

Survivors include his widow, Eleanor Ray Bushnell McLean; a son William L. III; and a daughter Ray.

Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Torpedoes Pay Off

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Two fishermen went diving for abalone recently and came up with a couple of tin fish (torpedoes). They netted George E. Troester and Murray Black $100 apiece.

Black spotted his "fish" 135 feet down at San Clemente and, after notifying the Navy, dived down with a tow line and snagged it. Troester found his in a bed of kelp near Long Beach.

'Architecture' Is Rayburn's Topic at Lions

Neal O. Rayburn, of the Home Building Corp., was the principal speaker at the Sedalia Lions Club at its noonday meeting Wednesday. He used as his subject, "Functions of an Architect."

Rayburn, introduced by David Routsong, program chairman, said, "The basic desires, common to all us, are divided into three points: first, creative power; second, love; and third, know all (truth). They all add up to one thing, God."

"Architecture, good architecture, reveals God's power, love and truth in building, be it a home, office building or even a factory. Thus he will glorify God and fulfill his own desires. He must serve man and his God."

"A good architect listens only to God, a bad architect listens only to man," Rayburn told the group. He then continued in telling of the early centuries' architecture, and revealed the worst architecture was in the 19th century. "I am glad to see the last half of the present century turning to creative and not copy, and the rediscovery of God's given rules," he concluded.

The talk was very interesting and informative. Guest at the meeting was Robert M. Overstreet Jr., of his father.

The club sang the cradle song to Ralph Becker, who announced the birth of a son. Becker also

Explosive Blasts Sound Like War, They Just Clear Snow

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — The rumble of high explosives has been echoing along the Danube and Sava rivers in Yugoslavia, recalling memories of wartime years when the area was under heavy artillery and air attack. But this battle is against ice.

The winter has been the most severe in 25 years. Although the subfreezing temperatures and heavy snowfall were about like those common in upper New York and Minnesota, there were only sweat and shovels, a few bulldozers and antiquated snowplows to handle the situation here.

Whole sections of the country were isolated as snow clogged road and rail lines. Tiny mountain-rimmed hamlets had drifts reaching to the rooftops. For a time Yugoslavia had neither cable nor telephone communications with the outside world.

Packs of hungry wolves prowled through unlighted city streets. Serious as the snow was, the gravest danger remained ahead. Even in normal weather years, spring floods jeopardize the country's agricultural security. Both the Danube and the Sava flow through Yugoslavia's rich but low-lying farmlands.

Both rivers now are stilled by ice, in places more than three feet thick. With warm weather approaching, a sudden spring break-up could result in huge ice jams that would back the water up over the river banks and delay spring planting indefinitely.

The greatest potential danger appeared to be at the shaky temporary bridges spanning the two rivers at the "Iron Gates" of the Danube River between Yugoslavia and Romania. The river here races rapidly between narrow mountain walls that make passage-way difficult even under normal circumstances.

To protect the bridges, erected as temporary spans to replace others destroyed during the war, army engineers have begun blasting the ice above the bridge pillars to keep the channels open. Helicopters are taking dynamite to the "Iron Gates." Horse-drawn sleighs bring in other supplies. Where the horses fail, soldiers tote in the necessities by ski and snowshoe. If the operation proves successful and floods are held to a minimum, the heavy snows may prove a blessing. Yugoslavia was parched by a late summer and fall drought. Snow came too late to save much of the winter wheat crop but its moisture could go a long way toward providing good conditions for spring and summer crops this year.

20 Persons Hurt When Two Crack Trains Hit

CHICAGO — More than 20 persons were injured, none seriously, yesterday when the Pennsylvania Railroad's Liberty Limited and the Burlington Line's Minneapolis Zephyr collided in the Union Station's train shed.

Twelve of the injured were passengers in the Limited, which was bound for Baltimore and Washington. Five of the train's porters and waiters also were hurt, as were six Burlington employees aboard the Zephyr. There were no passengers on the Zephyr, which was backing into the big station for an outgoing trip. Only one of the injured remained hospitalized overnight.

Around the Farm Home

with
OPAL O'BRIANT
Pettis County Home Agent

A meeting of interest to all vegetable gardeners, both city and farm, will be held March 17, beginning at 1:30 p. m. at the Assembly Room of the courthouse.

Clyde Cunningham, garden specialist, University of Missouri, will assist with this meeting. All extension foods leaders and 4-H club garden and extension garden leaders are urged to attend.

A training meet for 4-H Clothing 1, 11 and all new leaders will be held Tuesday, March 23 beginning at 10:30. The meeting will be held at the First Methodist Church, Fourth and Osage.

The County Play Festival will be March 29 and 30 instead of on March 29, 30 and 31.

The recreation workshop conducted by Mrs. Ann Livingston, national recreation director and sponsored by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, was a worthwhile project. During the week approximately 100 4-H and extension club leaders took part in the workshop. A booklet has been prepared by the Chamber of Commerce, consisting of all the games, folk dances and songs taught during the week. A copy may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce office or the County Extension office. The price is 50c per copy. This charge is for the price of the paper used in compiling the booklet.

Brown and Serve Bread
Next time you bake a batch of bread, half-bake several pans of rolls. Later, brown them quickly just before you serve them. Use a good basic roll recipe but make the dough just a bit stiffer. Instead of baking rolls at an oven temperature of 400 to 425 degrees Fahrenheit — bake them in a slow oven — 275 degrees F. — about 30 minutes. The rolls should be fully baked inside but white instead of brown on the outside. When your meal is nearly ready to serve, place the rolls in a very hot oven — 450 degrees F. — for about seven minutes. They should be hot, fragrant and golden brown. Pre-baked and unbrowned light rolls will stay fresh several days at the room temperature. They'll keep two weeks in a refrigerator and months in a food freezer.

American Cheese
Cheese is one of the important foods used in planning Lenten meals and shoppers will be buying and using quantities of American cheese during this season.

Cheese production in the United States, not including the cottage cheese, totals more than a billion pounds each year. Of this amount nearly three-fourths is American cheddar or American type cheeses similar to cheddar. American cheese production also includes brick, Monster, Limburger, Italian cheese, Neufchatel, cream, blue mold, and a variety of unclassified cheeses.

Wisconsin ranks far above other states in the production of cheddar cheese but Missouri ranks second and much of this cheese is used in the manufacture of processed cheese and processed cheese food and cheese spread.

Cheese is a highly nutritive food. It contains, in concentrated form, almost all the protein and usually most of the fat of milk as well as essential vitamins and other nutrients.

American cheddar cheese is made in various sizes and shapes and these cheeses vary in color, texture and flavor. Natural cheese is usually cut and packaged for the market. The label indicates its place of manufacture and its flavor. For example, Wisconsin sharp cheese, or New York cheese.

Natural cheese has had no special treatment beyond the natural curing and aging. Different curing and aging processes develop differences in flavor and texture.

Processed cheese is made from a blend or combination of one or more kinds of natural cheese. The flavor and color are uniform. There is no rind or waste and the cheese melts smoothly without becoming stringy or curdling.

Cheese Food is made the same as processed cheese except that certain dairy products are added — cream, milk, skim milk, or whey. Fruits, vegetables or meats are sometimes added.

Cheese Spread is made in the same way as Cheese Food except it contains more moisture and less fat. It must be spreadable at a temperature of 70 degrees F.

How to Handle Cheese
Wrap cut cheese tightly in foil, waxed paper, or plastic film and store in the refrigerator. Unopened processed cheese will keep at room temperature. After the package has been opened, seal the cut surface with foil or waxed paper and store in the refrigerator.

Freezing is not recommended as a means of storing cheese. Processed cheese is not changed by freezing but it will keep just as well at refrigerator temperatures. The texture of natural cheese becomes mealy and the cheese crumbles when frozen.

Mold on cheese does not necessarily mean spoilage. The mold can be trimmed off and the cheese re-wrapped. The practice of wrapping cheese in a vinegar-soaked cloth helps keep down the mold growth but it also alters the flavor and is not recommended.

Cheese Fondue (serves 4)

1/2 pound sharp cheese
4 to 5 slices white bread
3 eggs
1 1/2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco

1. Shred or grate cheese (1/2-lb. makes two cups).

2. Cut bread in small cubes (there should be 1 1/2 cups).

3. Separate eggs. Beat whites until stiff enough to stand in peaks.

Beat yolks until thick.

4. Add cheese, bread, and remaining ingredients to yolks, and blend.

5. Fold in beaten whites.

6. Turn into greased casserole, set in pan of water.

7. Bake in slow oven 325 degrees F. for about an hour or until knife inserted in center comes out clean.

Menu suggestion: Serve with baked squash, a green vegetable, a crisp salad, fruit and cookies or pie for dessert. Bread and butter, milk and beverage.

Getting the Most From Your Vacuum Cleaner

Proper use and care will increase the value of your vacuum cleaner as a labor saver.

An upright cleaner is most efficient when operated slowly. The tank type cleaner, however, should be operated somewhat rapidly (about twice as fast as upright models). For efficient cleaning go over each part of the rug at least twice.

To prevent wheel marks and footprints, start the vacuum in door and move backward toward the door. And for best results operate the cleaner in the direction of the pile — not across the grain of the nap. Several short cleaning periods each week are more efficient in carpet dirt removal than one longer cleaning period of equal length.

Always be sure the nozzle of the upright cleaner is at the correct height above the rug. Follow manufacturer's instructions for making such adjustments. Some cleaners adjust automatically to various depths of pile. The nozzle of the tank type cleaners must be held firmly against the rug, and moved rapidly back and forth with an even pressure to get out embedded dirt.

Even the most efficient vacuum cleaner cannot do a good job when clogged with dirt. Cleaners with disposable bags make the task less unpleasant. Cleaners with a cloth bag should be emptied after each use. Rub the sides of the bag together gently to loosen embedded dirt. Since accumulated dirt fills the pores of the fabric, the bag should occasionally be turned wrong side out and brushed with a whisk broom or attachment. Never wash the bag. Replace the bag when it becomes clogged with greasy soil. The cloth bag of an upright cleaner should be soft and easily compressed when in operation. If the bag is firm and drum like it means that back pressure is causing poor cleaning.

The belt on the upright cleaner makes the brush revolve. When the belt gets loose the cleaner operates too slowly to clean well. Check the condition of the belt frequently and replace it about every six months.

Clean attachment brushes after each use. Keep the roll of revolving brush free from hair and thread. Keep brush bristles long enough to sweep efficiently. They wear down from use. Buy a new brush when needed.

Proper attention to the belt, the bag, and the brush is often all that an upright cleaner needs to restore lost efficiency.

Shamrock Dessert for St. Patrick

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Put green groceries on your market list for St. Patrick's Day March 17. Is the family celebrating at suppertime? Then start with green split pea soup and tiny buttered croissants. Go on to a boneless smoked pork shoulder butt or half - ham; accompany the meat with chutney - just for a different touch. Serve parsley potatoes, too, and a green vegetable such as creamed spinach or broccoli. Tossed greens will make a crisp and crunchy salad course. Then bring on the crowning glory - a molded dessert, as green as lime-flavored gelatin will make it!

This dessert is a little different because coconut, as well as dates and oranges, go into it. The coconut gives it good flavor and interesting texture. But one tip: be sure to chop the coconut in short lengths, as the recipe directs, before adding it to the gelatin. This way the dessert will be easier to cut into portions than if you leave the coconut in long shreds. Here's the recipe:

Lime Coconut Fruit Mold
Ingredients: 2 packages lime-flavored gelatin, 2 cups very hot water, 1 cup cold water, 1 cup orange juice, 2 oranges, 20 pitted dates, 1 1/2 cups shredded coconut, cream, toasted coconut.

Method: Add gelatin to very hot water and stir until dissolved. Stir in cold water and orange juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Meanwhile peel oranges, removing white membrane; dice. Slice dates. Chop coconut into short lengths. Fold oranges, dates and coconut into slightly thickened gelatin. Turn into shamrock mold or 8 by 8 by 2-inch pan; chill until firm. Unmold. Whip cream and spread over top of gelatin dessert; sprinkle with toasted coconut. Makes 16 to 12 servings.

Note: To toast coconut, spread thin in shallow baking pan. Place in moderate (350F) oven; stir coconut often so it will toast evenly; remove from oven when it is a delicate brown.

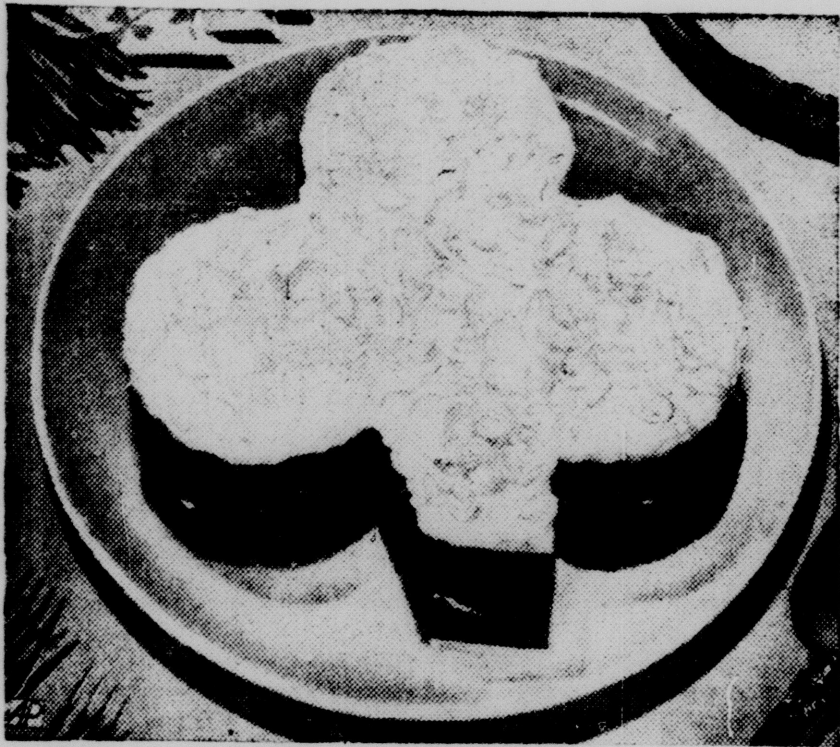

If friends are expected in the afternoon or evening on St. Patrick's Day, here are snack suggestions.

Sandwich rolls, filled with water cress or canned drained green asparagus will make good-tasting and attractive offerings. Butter the bread well and spread it with mayonnaise before rolling around the filling.

Any small fry or teen - agers among the guests? Then make them a St. Pat's Cooler by mixing grapefruit juice with carbonated water; tint a pale green and sweeten to taste. Garnish the Coolers with green maraschino cherries, if they are available. Youngsters love them!

Use your favorite sugar-cookie recipe, rolling the dough very thin; cut into shamrock shapes with a floured cutter and bake as usual. Spread half the cooled cookies with frosting tinted green and top with the remaining cookies.

If layer cake is planned, you

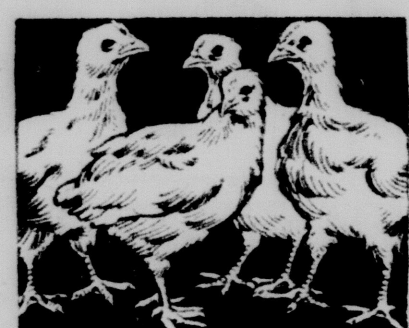

SHAMROCK DESSERT—Easy to make with lime-flavored gelatin for the holiday feast.

can make it up from a white or and frost with cream that's tinted yellow cake mix. Put the layers pale green, whipped together with a pineapple filling sweetened.

Baked Haddock Florentine
Is a Favorite In Virginia

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

In Richmond, Va., haddock gets deliciously baked in aluminum foil. Kathryn Smith, director of the executive dining room of Reynolds Metals Co., says this is a very popular recipe. Her recipe for rock lobster tails thermidor goes big with the men, too.

Baked Haddock Florentine in Aluminum Foil
(Makes 4 to 5 servings)

One cup chopped frozen spinach, 3/4 cup soft bread crumbs, 3 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 1/2 teaspoons grated onion, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 1/2 pounds frozen fillets of haddock, melted butter or margarine, 2-3 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 cup grated American cheese.

Combine spinach, bread crumbs, 3 tablespoons of mayonnaise, onion and seasonings. Thaw fish sufficiently to handle and sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Place half the fillets on good - sized piece of foil. Cover with spinach Change Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Williams and children of Kansas City and Mrs. Richard Mackey spent the weekend here in the Mummert home.

Mrs. Curtis Veach, Tipton, was a guest on Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dornan. Mrs. T. J. Faris and Mrs. Preston Hays were guests in the home on Wednesday. Virgil Carter spent Thursday morning in Tipton.

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Thurs., Mar. 11, 1954 5

dressing, top with remaining fillets and brush with melted butter, then remaining mayonnaise mixed with grated cheese. Bring foil together over fish and seal into a package. Bake one hour at 450 degrees F. (hot oven). For serving, transfer to hot platter, open and serve right from foil.

Rock Lobster Tails, Thermidor
(Makes 4 servings)

Select large rock lobster tails, 14 to 16 ounces. Defrost, then steam in small amount of boiling salted water about 15 minutes. Remove meat, saving shells. Cut meat in large cubes. For 4 large lobster tails, prepare sauce as follows: Six tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, or 1 small can mushrooms, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 cups rich milk, 1/4 cup cooking sherry (or lemon juice), 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco, 1/4 cup cream, 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese.

Melt 4 tablespoons of the shortening; saute onion and mushrooms. Remove, then add remaining shortening and flour. Blend to form smooth paste. Add milk and cook until thickened. Add sherry or lemon juice and remaining seasonings. Return onion - mushroom mixture to the sauce; add lobster and cream, and combine. Fill tails, then sprinkle each with grated cheese. These may be prepared in advance and each individually wrapped in aluminum foil. Store in refrigerator. About 3 minutes before serving, place on a cookie sheet. Turn back aluminum foil to form a holder for each shell. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 25 minutes or until brown and bubbling.

Cure for a Breakfast Grouch

HAPPY BREAKFASTS! Gay muslin mats and matching curtains with tulip applique are easy to make at home.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

If your husband is a morning grouch, try a subtle cure.

Set a pretty breakfast table, wear a gay brunch coat and create a sunny atmosphere. Then watch his grumpy mood dissolve.

If your budget won't stretch to include special breakfast mats and matching curtains for the breakfast nook, make them yourself in next to no time on your sewing machine. A few yards of inexpensive muslin, bright scraps from your rag - bag and a little imagination will do the trick. Local sewing center experts have worked out the following directions:

To make the breakfast mats, with a gay tulip applique, cut four pieces of fabric 14 by 20 inches, to allow a one-inch hem all around. Measure carefully, press hems. Use the blind stitch attachment of your machine to hem the mats neatly and quickly.

The tulips and pots are of bright red cotton; the center leaf is dark green and the two smaller leaves are green - and - white checked gingham. This color arrangement may be varied according to the available material in your scrap bag, but good balance is achieved by having the darkest color for the center leaf with the flower and pot in a different solid shade.

Trace parts carefully on paper, and cut for all place mats at once. Baste the checked side leaves in position, then the stem. The flower covers the end of the stem; the center leaf covers the other end of the stem and the ends of the side leaves, and the pot is basted last to cover the ends of
